A Beautiful Little Story. A few weeks since in comit down the North River, I was seated in the cabin of the magnificent steamer Isaac Newton, in conversation with some friends. It was eming late in the evening, and one after another, seeking repose from the cares and toils of the day, made preparations to retire to their berths. Some pulling off their boots and coats, lay themselves down to rest; others in the attempt to make it seem as much as possible like home, threw off more of their clothing—each one as his comfort, or apprehension of danger dictated.

I had noticed on deck a fine looking little boy of about six years old, following around a man evidently his father, whose appearance indicated him to be a fereigner, probably a German—a man of medium height, and respectable dress. The child was unusually fair and fine-looking, handsomely featured, with an intelligent and affection te expression of countenance; and from under his chesnut hair, in thick clustering, beautiful curls.

After walking about the cabin for some time the father and son stepped within a few feet of where we were seated, and beappearance indicated him to be a fereigner,

The father sat down by his side and ning in a northerly direction with Bloom Fur-nace Company's line, thirteen rods and two links; thence running in a western direction waited the conclusion. It was, for a child a long prayer, but well understood. 1 could hear the murmuring of his sweet twelve rods and five links; thence running in a southern direction thirteen rods and two links; thence in an eastern direction twelve voice, but could not distinguish the words he spoke. But what a scene! There were men around him—Christian men rods and five links to the beginning, containing one acre. And also, all the land lying between the above lot of land and the Ohio river, retiring to rest without prayer; or, if praying at all, a kind of mental desire for protween the above lot of tand and the Onio river, be the same more or less, with the right to use as a Furnace landing seven rods and twenty links, commencing at the south west corner of the above described acre of land, running in a western direction, and thence running in a southern direction to the Ohio river, more or tection, without sufficient courage or piety to kneel down in a stenmboat's cabin, and before strangers, acknowledge the goodness of God or his protective love.

This was the training of some pious mo-that boy in his happy youth, in his anxious made by the undersigned, for an order that partition may be made of said premises.

MOORE R. TEWKSBERRY, thank him for the influence and example of that devotion, and bless the name of his mother that taught him to pray.

Scarcely any passing incident of my life ever made a deeper impression on my mind. I went in my room, and thanked for sale the lowest in town by God that I had witnessed it, and for its influence upon my heart. Who prays on a steamboat? Who train their children to pray, even at home ?"

A Scene Altogether American.

The National Intelligencer, commenting Manufacture and keep constantly on hand upon the sad event of President Taylor's Carriages, Buggies, Wegons, Carts and Plows, death, alludes to an incident of the day of as good workmanship, and at as low prices which probably made less impression than as the same article can be bought for any place some others on American speciators, but in the west. The public are respectfully inviwas precisely that which is most calculated to attract the notice of foreigners. The death of the President being announced, a citizen, plainly attired, enters among the assembled Representatives of the nation, walks up to the Clerk's desk, takes an oath on the Bible to support the Constitution of the United States, and by this brief ceremo-Force of a mighty empire, with the execution of its laws and the administration of its power, No one objects or dreams of objection; the act is acquiesced in as a thing of course, and with the submission that would be rendered to a law of nature. And yet, though the individual attracted attention, the thing itself was hardly thought of inconnection with the consequences. In some countries such a transfer of power would have cost streams of blood, and shaken the Government to its very foundations. And why is it not so here? Because ours is a Government of equal rights, ject, we propose introducing in all the public and private schools in this region, the and a Government of laws, and because our people are a law-abiding and a law-keeping people; because they know and feel that their own laws are the restraints which they comprising a primer, speller, six readers, three arithmetic's and keys, and two Algebras, also Pinneo's 1st and 2d part grammars. After a lapse of several years, during which the books themselves have placed on their own pas-sions, and that it is only by obeying these laws that their equal rights can be maintained. Hence the reason why we hear commondations on every side in its favor by men, women, and children. We find it doing wonders in the cure of CONSUMPTION, DYSPEPSIA, and LIVER-COMPLAINT, and in RHEUMATISM, SCROF. ULA, PILES, COSTIVENESS, all CUTANE. It works wonders in cases of Fluor Albus or Whites, Fulling of the Womb, Obstructed, Suppressed, or Painful Menses, Irregularity of the menstrual periods, and the like and is effectual in curing all the forms of Kidney Diseases. By removing obstructions, and regulating the general system, it gives tone and strength to the whole body, and thus cures all forms of Nervous Diseases and Debility, and thus prevents or relieves a great variety of other maindies, as Spinal teritation, Neurolgia, St. Vitus' Dance. Steconing, Epileptic Fils, Convuisions, &c.

It cleanses the blood, excites the liver to bealthy action, tones the stomach, and gives good digestion, relieves the bowels of torpor and construction, allays inflammation, purifies the stime, equalities the circulation of the blood, producing scotle warmth sousliv all over the body, and the mesenable perspiration; relaxes strictures and instructions, and invigorates the entire nervous system. inferior article 1. This young man's liquid is not to be COMPARED WITH THE OLD DR'S, because of one GRAND FACT, that the one is INCAPA-BLE of DETERIORATION, and NEVER SPOILS, while the other DOES: souring, fermienting, and blowing the bettles containing it into fragments; the sour, acid liquid exploding, and damaging other goods! Muss not this herrible compound be poisenous to the system 1-17Ant put acid into a system directly tisseased with acid? What acauses Dyspepual but acid! Do we not all know that when the system is any stormacles, what mischief it produces the storm of the storm of the storm of the storm of the bears, tiver complaint, diarrhora, dysentery, colic, and corruption of the blood! What is Scroful but an acid humor in the body! What produces all the humors which bring on Eruptions of the Skin, Scald Head, Sait Rheum, Eryspelas, White Swellings, Fever Sores, and all ulcerations mermal and external? It is nothing under heaven but an acid substance, which sours, and thus spoils all the fluits of the body, more or less. What causes Rheumatism but a nour and agid divid which institutes itself between the joints and elsewhere, trritating and inflaming the delicate tissues upon which it acted? So of nervous diseases, of impurity of the blood, of deranged circulation, and nearly all the stiments which afflict human nature.

Now is it not horrible to make and sell, and disfinitely recreated use this.

Now is it not normine to make an sen, and superscriptors to use this SOURING, FERMENTING, ACID "COMPOUND" OF S. P. TOWNSEND, and yet he would fain have it understood that Old Dr. Jacob Townsend's Genetic Original Sorasparilla, is an IMITATION of his inferior preparation I?

Heaven forbid that we should deal in an article which would bear the most dimant resemblance to S. P. Townsend's article?

We wish it understood, because it is the absolute truth, that S. P. Townsend's article and old Dr. Jacob Townsend's Areaparilla are heaven-weids apart, and infinitely dissurding; that they are unlike in every particular, having not one single litting in common.

As S. P. Townsend is no doctor, and never was, is no chemist, no pharmaceutist—knows no more of medicine or disease than any other common, unclentific, unprefessional man, what guarantee can the public have that they are receiving a gannine scientific medicine, containing all the vitues of the articles used in preparing it, and which are incapable of changes which might render them the AGENTS of Disease instead of health?

But what class should be expected from one who knows anothing comparatively of medicine or disease. It requires a person of some experience to cook and serve up even a common decent meal. How much snore important is it that the persons who manufacture medicine designed for WEAK STOMACHS AND ENTERELED SYSTEMS, should know well the medical properties of plants, the best unamper of securing and concentrating their healing virtues, also an extensive knowledge of the various diseases which affect, the human system, and how to adapt remedies to kees diseases!

It is to arrest franks upon the unfortunate, to pour balm in wounded humanity, to kindle hope in the despairing hosom, to restore health, and bloom, and vigor into the cushed and broken, and to basis marining their healing virtues, also an extensive knowledge of the various diseases which affect, the human system, and how to adapt remedies to kees diseases!

That the public may be satisfied of the permanency of this school, we feel it our duty to state, that the Trustees and Faculty form a unit in action, which augurs well for its future success, and that the peculiar internal organization which connects them, cannot be interrupted.

WASHINGTON HOUSE, Chesnut street above Seventh street, PHILADELPHIA,

Is central, in the immediate vicinity of the most important public Institutions, the best and most fashionable places of business, and the attractive public Squares of the city. In the important requisites of light and ventilation, two principal objects aimed at in the recent enlargement and thorough improvement of this House, it is not exceeded, perhaps, by any establishment in America. To strangers, therefore, its position is peculiarly desirable. The subscriber returns thanks to his friends and the public for the liberal patronage they and the public for the liberal patronage they have extended to him, and assures them that he will endeavor to merit a continuance of their favors.
